OPPOSITION TO DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STRIKE THE AFFIDAVIT OF RICHARD GIELOW

Now comes the plaintiff, Gary Lonczak, and opposes the Motion to Strike the Affidavit of Richard Gielow.

The defendant moves to strike portions of the Affidavit of Richard Gielow on grounds that it is "conclusionary". It is difficult to understand exactly what this objection is. The fact that Mr. Gorman, Mr. Duval and Mr. Bosworth were sales management employees who dealt with the Regional Sales Managers, is obvious in many places in the record. Even from the defendant's motion, it is clear defendant does not dispute the fact that all of these individuals would have worked with the Regional Sales Managers and the Regional Sales force. Mr. Gielow's point is simply that to his observation as a Regional Sales Manager, Mr. Gorman was performing Mr. Duval's work. Since Mr. Geilow had a different job than Mr. Gorman, defendant is free to attack the degree and detail of Mr. Gielow's knowledge if it wishes, but that is not a reason to strike the affidavit since Mr. Gielow is competent to testify as to what occurred in the department he worked in. Indeed, Mr. Gielow's testimony is supported in the record by other Company officials including Andrew Kelleher. (Exh. A, pp. 62-67, the "national sales function" was Mr. Gorman)

It is certainly material that Mr. Gielow, Mr. Duval and Mr. Kelleher, all understood Mr. Gorman was taking Mr. Duval's job.

The defendant further objects to Mr. Gielow's assertion that he was replaced by an individual named Chris Reh who was in his thirties. Mr. Gielow explains that he knew Mr. Reh's circumstances because Mr. Reh consulted with him after Reh had been hired by Callaway, even though Mr. Gielow had been terminated. Because he later had occasion to hire Mr. Reh, Gielow was familiar with his qualifications and his prior work. Mr. Reh's consultation with Mr. Gielow after he had been hired by Callaway is an admission by Mr. Reh that is binding upon the Company. The entire objection is disingenuous since the Company obviously does not dispute that Mr. Reh was hired to replace Mr. Gielow. The further objection to the remaining information in Paragraph 4 (that Mr. Gielow had in fact later hired Mr. Reh), is frivolous since Mr. Gielow obviously has personal knowledge of his own subsequent work experience and the fact that he hired Mr. Reh. For these reasons, the motion should be denied.
